This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

The prior and convent acknowledged the other two parts to be the right of the abbot and convent and their church of Thorneye, and in return for this the abbot and convent acknowledged 400 acres of the marsh called 'Eldegore,' beginning at Delfdik and lying by the abbot's dyke towards the Cross and containing one league, 12 perches excepted, towards the west and thence extending from the demesne meadows of the abbot and his men of Stangrund in breadth towards the south, containing half a league and 2 perches, and thence to Delfdik, in length containing 1 league, 12 perches, and there in breadth half a league and 2 perches, together with 200 acres of marsh which the prior has within the said metes of his portion. MEMBRANES 7 to 5.

Exemplification, at the request of John Cosyn, warden of the chapel of St. Mary, Sibethorpe, of the tenors of records and processes before the justices of the Bench as follows:—

(1.) Pleas at Westminster in fifteen days of Michaelmas, 21 Edward III, Ro. 624, Nottingham to wit. John son of Ralph Chaumpeneys of Quappelade and Margaret, his wife, and Roger son of William de Flete, demand against the said warden the manor of Sibethorpe as the right of Margaret and Roger, by writ of right because Stephen Waleys, chief lord, &c. released to the king his court thereof. They say that one Ralph de Sancto Paulo, ancestor of Margaret and Roger, was seised of the manor in the time of King Richard and that from him the right therein descended to Dionisia, his daughter and heir, who afterwards married Alexander Bozon of Kirketon in Hoyland, knight, and had issue Ralph, to whom the inheritance descended, and as he died without heir of himself, the right passed to his brother, Hugh, and from him the same descended successively to Simon, his son, and to John son of the said Simon, who died without heir of himself, wherefore the right passed to his sisters Joan, Alice and the said Margaret, and from Joan, because she died without heir of herself, the right of her pourparty descended to her two sisters, and the right of Alice descended to Roger, the demandant, as her son and heir.

The warden acknowledges this, and says that the said John son of Simon died seised of the entire manor with all its appurtenances in Sibethorpe, Shelton and Knyveton, and after his death the same descended to the said Margaret then married to the said John son of Ralph, the said Alice and also to the said Joan, who afterwards married John the elder, son of Reginald de Aslacton, knight, that afterwards by a fine (produced) levied in the king's court at Nottingham, on Monday after Martinmas, in the third year of the present king, before William de Herle and his fellows, justices in eyre, between the same John son of Reginald, plaintiff, and John son of Ralph and Margaret, deforciants, the latter acknowledged one third part of the manor to be the right of the plaintiff, by virtue whereof John son of Reginald was seised of that third part of the manor; as to the second third part of the manor he says that the same Alice by the name of Alice daughter of Simon de Kirketon in Hoyland, sometime wife of William son of Hugh de Flete, after the death of her husband, granted the same to the said John son of Reginald by a charter (produced), dated on Tuesday the vigil of St. Lucy, 3 Edward III; and as to the remaining third part he says that the same John son of Reginald was seised of that in right of Joan his wife; that afterwards by fine levied at York in fifteen days of Hilary, 8 Edward III, before William de Herle and his fellows, justices of the Bench, between the same John and Joan, plaintiffs, and Hugh de Aslacton, chaplain, deforciant, of the same third part, the plaintiffs acknowledged the same to be the right of Hugh, and he regranted it to them in tail, with successive remainders to William de Stanford in tail, and to Reginald son of William del Wodehouses in fee, and he says that afterwards the said John son of Reginald granted the manor to Thomas de Sibethorpe, parson of Bekyngham, founder of the chapel, who endowed the chapel therewith, and in proof of this he produces deeds. Judgment for the warden.

(2.) The like, on the octave of Hilary, 21 Edward III. Ro. 49, Nottingham to wit. William de Wodehous, demandant, and the same warden, tenant of the manor of Sibethorpe. The warden pleads that demandant released his right in the manor to the aforesaid Thomas, founder of the chapel, who endowed the same therewith. Judgment for the warden.

(3.) The like, on the quinzaine of Martimas, 21 Edward III. Ro. 625, Nottingham to wit. The same warden is summoned to answer Thomas Freman of Sibethorpe and Emma, his wife, wherefore he took and unjustly detains their chattels. Thomas and Emma, by their attorney, William de Batheleye, complain that on Thursday after All Saints in this year at a place called 'Thomashous Freman' in Sibethorpe the warden took and detains a brazen pot and a pan.

The warden, by his attorney, William de Bitham, avouches the taking and justifies the same. He says that one John de Aslacton the elder, son of Reginald de Aslacton, knight, late lord of the manor of Sibethorpe, was seised of the tenement aforesaid as parcel of the manor and by indenture (produced), dated at Sibethorpe on Wednesday the Annunciation, 6 Edward III, enfeoffed the same Thomas and Emma of the same, to wit, a messuage in Sibethorpe lying in length from the highway towards the west as far as lands of the chantry of St. Mary, Sibethorpe, on the east, and in breadth between a messuage of Robert Adam and Geoffrey son of Richard de Kilvyngton, and six selions of arable land in the fields of Sibethorpe (specified in the indenture), they rendering yearly 6*s.* and coming twice a year to the grantor's court at Sibethorpe, and if the rent should be in arrear at any time, the said lord had power to distrain, and that the said manor afterwards became the property of the chapel as aforesaid. Judgment for the warden.

(4.) The like, on the quinzaine of Hilary, 20 Edward III. Ro. 164, Nottingham to wit. Robert son of William del Grene of Sibethorpe demandant, the same warden, tenant of an acre of meadow and 16½*d.* of rent, in Sibethorpe, by writ of right because Thomas de Sibethorpe, chief lord, etc. released to the king his court. Demandant says that one Goscelin son of Roger de Sibethorpe, ancestor of the demandant, was seised thereof in the time of King Richard, and from him the right therein descended through Thomas, his son and heir, Roger, son and heir of Thomas, Alice, daughter and heir of Roger, William, son and heir of Alice, to Robert, the demandant. The warden says that William, demandant's father, by deed granted the premises to the said Thomas de Sibethorpe, who endowed the chapel with the same at its foundation, and he produces a writing of quit-claim, witnessed by William son of Geoffrey, Thomas, his brother, Thomas Peronel, Geoffrey Bithelane, William de Grantham, clerk, and others, wherein the premises are particularly set forth. Judgment for the warden.

(5.) The like. Ro. 561, Nottingham to wit. The prior of Thurgarton, demandant, and the same warden, tenant, of a bovate of land, 5 acres of meadow and 15*s.* of rent in Sibethorpe and Aslacton, by writ of right because Alice de Byngham, chief lady of the fee, released to the king her court. April 28. Westminster. Whereas the treasurer and barons of the exchequer and the king's chamberlains, by command of the king at the suit of the weavers or spinners (textorum sive telariorum) of the city of Lincoln asserting that Henry, sometime king of England, by charter granted to the weavers in that city their gild and the customs and liberties pertaining to their office, that none should make cloth, dyed or rayed, within the city or a circuit of twelve miles unless he were of that gild and office, they rendering yearly to the king 6*l.* and that the spinners of the city had hitherto been charged with such 6*l.* although the gild aforesaid and the liberties granted on account of this had not been observed as they should have been, have certified that on search of the rolls and memoranda it is found that in the great roll of the third year of King Henry II, in the county of Lincoln, it is found thus—telarii Lincolnie pro gilda sua per annum sex libras, and in subsequent rolls it is noted that the said 6*l.* are required from them and paid yearly until the fifteenth year of the king's father, and from that year there are required of arrears of that farm 160*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* which were not levied because there were no weavers working in the same city, and the suburb and circuit thereof, before the fifth year of the present king, from which year down to the nineteenth year there were only a few working spinners denizen there, whereas at the time of the grant by Henry II they were more than two hundred in number, wealthy and powerful, that the said spinners, by virtue of the charter of Henry II, had such liberties that no spinner should exercise his office within twelve miles of the city unless he were of the gild of the weavers of Lincoln, which was constituted in honour of the Holy Cross, and this charter was burned at 'Letherplace' in the suburb of Lincoln, in time whereof there is not memory, and that every weaver making stay within the above limits contributed towards the farm proportionally, as by inquisitions returned into the exchequer by order of the king appears; and whereas the same weavers being charged with the farm and the arrears of the same have now made petition to the king praying that, inasmuch as many citizens of the city keep hired weavers working cloths for sale and

July 12. Westminster. Exemplification, at the request of John de Brigham, king's clerk, parson of Mepeham, of the record and process of a plea as follows:—

Pleas at Westminster, before J. de Stonore and his fellows, justices of the Bench, of Michaelmas Term, 19 Edward III, ro. 88. Kent, to wit. John, archbishop of Canterbury, is summoned to answer the king touching a plea that he permit him to present to the said church.

John de Clone, who sues for the king, says that John de Peccheham sometime archbishop of Canterbury, was seised of the advowson of the said church in right of his bishopric in the time of Edward I, and at that time collated the same to one Master Alexander de Martynthorp, his clerk, that afterwards in the time of Robert de Wynchelse, late archbishop of Canterbury, the temporalities of the archbishopric were taken into the hands of the king aforesaid, at which time the church was void by the death of the said Master Alexander, whereby the presentation came into the king's hands and from him descended through Edward II to the king that now is.

The archbishop, by Walter de Kildesby, his attorney, says that the church was not avoided while the temporalities were in the hands of Edward I, as the king's advocate supposes, and thereof he putteth himself upon the country; and John likewise. Afterwards the process is respited until this day, to wit the quinzaine of Easter following, unless before then R. de Kelleshull, on Sunday after the Purification, be at Shyngeldewell. same castle &c. were in the hands of his progenitors, appointed Robert de Colevill, William de Colevill, Nicholas de Bokelond, John de Trehampton and John de Colby to make inquisition by oath of good men of the county of Lincoln touching the premises and they have returned their inquisition as follows:—inquisition taken at Grantham, on Tuesday after Ascension Day, 22 Edward III, before the said William, John and John, by oath of John Pacy of Barkeston, John Weyte of Belton, John de Sancto Marco of Paunton, Henry de Waldeby of Welby, Adam de Walsoken of Berughby, Henry Shillyng of Berughby, John de Parys of Willesford the elder, Richard Prigeon of Welburn, John de Castello of Welburn, Thomas son of Peter de Welburn, Roger de Herlaston of Berughby, and Robert Geve of Adlyngton, who find that William Bukmynster and Margaret, his wife, hold in Berughby for her life 1 knight's fee in demesne and in service, of the inheritance of John Pesson, son and heir of William Pesson, by knight service, and she renders every Easter 3*s.* 4*d.* to the ward of the castle of Eye and does suit to the court of the honor of Eye every three weeks, which court can be held in any town of the honor, or parcel of a town, within the county of Lincoln, and she makes one advent at the view of frank-pledge of the honor held after Michaelmas, and from this fee no services are withdrawn; the abbot of Neubo holds in Adhelyngton in demesne and in service 1 knight's fee by knight service, which William Burdet sometime held, and renders every Easter to the ward of the castle of Eye 3*s.* 4*d.* and does suit and makes advent as above, and from this fee no services are withdrawn; Alesia, countess of Lincoln, holds the manor of Sekbrok in demesne and in service of the honor of Eye, for a fourth part of a knight's fee, by knight service, and renders nothing to the ward of the castle, and the reeve of the manor and four men of the town of Sekbrok ought to come to the view of frank-pledge of the honor wherever held in the county once a year, and will there present all the articles pertaining to view of frank-pledge, except the amends of ale, which the countess holds, and all distraints taken within the liberty of the said honor ought to be brought to the manor of Sekbrok and kept there by her bailiffs until delivered by the steward or the bailiffs of the honor; Master Peter de Dalderby holds in Willesford, Ancastre, Ingoldesby and Herlaston, half a knight's fee of the fee 'Malet,' by knight service, and renders every Easter 20*d.* to the ward of the said castle and does suit and makes advent as above, and from this fee no services are withdrawn; William Malebisse holds half a knight's fee in Nubo, with half a fee in Acastre and Acton, co. York, by knight service, and owes suit to the court of the honor of Eye in the county of Lincoln, and one advent, as above, and he renders every Easter for the same 3*s.* 4*d.* to the ward of the castle of Eye, and they find that for the suit of court and advent to the view of frank-pledge, William and his ancestors have made fine yearly by ½ mark, and they have paid for the ward of the castle all the time 3*s.* 4*d.* yearly, and that the homage, fealty and all other foreign services pertaining to the honor, except the suit of court and castle ward, have been withdrawn from the time when John Malebisse, father of the said William, died, to wit from 20 February, 16 Edward II; also they find that William Godested holds in Welburn of the said honor five carucates of land in demesne and in service by 6*s.* 8*d.* at Michaelmas for all service, and there are not any services withdrawn; Henry de Bello Monte holds in Welburn of the honor, a tenement which Isabel Vescy acquired of the fee of the honour and renders at Michaelmas 6*d.* and owes one advent as above, and that there are not any services withdrawn except the advent; John son of Thomas son of Peter holds tenements in Welburn

Aug. 1. Westminster. Exemplification of the tenour of the record and process of a plea before John de Stonore and his fellows, justices of the Bench, at Westminster, on the morrow of Martinmas, 21 Edward III, ro. 456, York, to wit, Thomas Wake of Lydell in mercy for many defaults, &c. The same Thomas was summoned to answer the king touching a plea that he permit him to present to the church of Rouleye. John de Clone, who sues for the king, says that Joan de Stotevill was seised of the manor of Cotyngham, to which the advowson of the said church pertains, in the time of King Henry III, and presented to the same one Roger de Seyton, her clerk, that from her the manor and advowson descended to Baldwin, her son and heir, and from him to John, his son and heir, and because Baldwin held in chief of Edward I, the manor and advowson were with other lands taken into that king's hands at his death by reason of the nonage of the said John, at which time the church was void by the death of the said Roger, whereby the said king presented to the same Alan de Thorneton, his clerk, that when John came of age the said king gave back to him his lands and the advowson, and afterwards the said John surrendered the same to the same king and his heirs, and the king re-granted these to him, and Joan, his wife, in tail, and on the death of John and Joan the king's father took the same into his hands by reason of the nonage of Thomas, their son and heir, at which time the church was void by the resignation of Alan, whereby he presented to the same first John de Hothum, king's clerk, and on his creation as bishop of Ely the right to present still pertained to the same king by reason of the nonage of the said heir and descended from him to the present king.

And Thomas by John de Beverle, his attorney, answers that after the presentation of John de Hothum the church did not again fall void in his nonage as the king's advocate supposes.

The said John replies that John de Hothum was elected bishop of Ely on 14 June, 1316, and the election was confirmed on 20 July following, on which day the king took the fealty of the bishop at La Neyt and he was consecrated at Canterbury by Walter, archbishop of Canterbury, on Sunday after Michaelmas, to wit 3 October, 1316, as appears by a certificate of the prior and convent of Christ Church, Canterbury. He produces also (1) a writ close of the present king signifying to the justices here that by an inquisition, taken in 28 Edward I, before Richard de Haveryng, escheator, after the death of John Wake, who died at Lydell on 30 June in that year, it was found that the said Thomas at Midlent then last was of the age of two years; (2) transcript of a writ, dated 6 June, 10 Edward II, to Master John Walweyn, escheator on this side the Trent, testifying that although Thomas, son and heir of John Wake, has not proved his age in the usual manner, the king, at the request of Henry de Lancastre, has taken his homage for the lands which he holds in chief, and commanding the escheator to deliver seisin thereof. From which it is clear that the church became vacant while Thomas was in his nonage. After further arguments on both sides, it is adjudged that the king recover his presentation to the church.

July 25. Westminster. Whereas on a late voidance of the monastery of St. Augustine, Canterbury, by the death of William, abbot of the same, the prior and convent, after obtaining the king's licence, elected William de Kenyngton, their fellow-monk, to be abbot, and he would have hurried to Rome to obtain confirmation of his election, had not the king, in view of the war with France then imminent, the dangers of the ways and the peril of death, by letters patent prohibited him from going, and afterwards by special letters made petition to the pope for a commission to some of the bishops of England to examine the election and do what was just, and the pope, imperfectly informed of the king's right in this behalf and not considering his petition and the perils aforesaid, quashed the election and by his apostolic authority made a provision of the monastery to one brother John Devenissh, to the prejudice not merely of the king's right and crown, but of the king's right of patronage of the monastery, whereof he is patron, for which reason the king, although the said abbot elect in view of the provision renounced his right in this behalf, in no wise thought fit that the said John should be admitted to the monastery or the temporalities thereof, and whereas the said John has gone the way of all flesh, as the king is informed; the king for the preservation of his royal right as well as for the salvation of the monastery that it be not longer without a pastor, signifies to the prior and convent that if it seem to them expedient to proceed to a new election they shall not be disturbed by him or his successors on account of this election if they make it. that 650 acres of land of Geoffrey de Knelle and Isabel Aucher had been inundated by water from a river running between their lands at Knellesflote, on the confines of the counties of Kent and Sussex, and Robertsbridge, co. Sussex, and that to save the lands there should be a sluice made to carry off the water and a wall built at Knellesflote to shut out the sea, and whereas the king by letters patent granted licence for this to be carried out, a wall has been built pursuant to such letters patent across the river to the prejudice of the king and the great damage and disherison of the petitioner, because the passage of ships and boats which used to pass along the river with victuals and other things from divers of his manors in those counties as far as his manor of Echyngham is now wholly prevented, and also to the destruction of his market town of Salehurst situated on that river, the market whereof was maintained entirely by the river, whereby the toll and other profits which he and his ancestors have been wont to receive, and which the king would have whenever the custody of his lands should come into his hands, are entirely annihilated, and praying that the letters patent be revoked and the wall thrown down, the king appointed John de Strode, John de Ore, Robert de Sharneden and Philip en le Wyk, to make inquisition hereof in the counties aforesaid in the presence of the parties interested, but he is now given to understand that the wall is a public benefit and that the said James to get it thrown down for his own private advantage, to the damage of the king and the public, sues for an inquisition to be able to attain his ends by suborned jurors. Wherefore the king has appointed them to make inquisition by jurors above suspicion and find whether the wall should be preserved or thrown down. By K. & C.

Oct. 8. Sandwich. Whereas Thomas le Palmere of Winchester was convicted before John de Stouford and his fellows, justices appointed in the county of Southampton to enquire touching wool brought without the realm to foreign parts not cocketed or customed, of having taken 210 sacks of such wool to those parts, and upon this made fine before the king himself upon these conditions, to wit that he would pay the king 200 marks and remit 40 sacks of wool, of the price of 300 marks, of 60 sacks of wool which the king owed him for a loan previously made by Thomas to him for the expenses of his chamber, as by an indenture between Thomas, bishop of Durham, then clerk of the chamber, and the same Thomas appears; and he by virtue of the king's mandate to him has paid such 200 marks to John de Flete for the king's use as by another indenture, made between John and him, appears: and whereas afterwards, when the same Thomas was a prisoner in the Flete at the improvident suit of some who were entirely ignorant of the conditions of the fine, letters patent were made for him in the chancery whereby it appears that he had made fine with the king for 521 marks and had remitted to him 48 sacks, 50 cloves of wool to have pardon for the premises and these letters were delivered to a yeoman of his, by virtue of which letters he is and long has been in many ways troubled and miserably brought to want, for which the king has compassion for him; the same Thomas has made petition that the king will pardon the premises by the conditions of the fine so made before him and order the said letters made at another time to be annulled and the king having full remembrance of the circumstances, has pardoned him by the former conditions for taking the wool to foreign parts uncustomed and uncoketed and all forfeitures incurred thereby, as well as for all other trespasses before 25 May, in the sixteenth year, the day on which the said letters patent of pardon were made for him, for which he might hereafter be impeached at his suit, and has seen fit that the former letters patent and the process thereon made against him and all that depends on the letters at the king's suit shall be annulled and quashed, and the letters cancelled on the rolls of the chancery as being of no force. (1) Pleas at Westminster before John de Stonore and his fellows, justices of the Bench, Michaelmas, 22 Edward III, ro. 381, Nottingham to wit. Simon de Sibethorpe demands against John Cosyn, chaplain, warden of the chapel of St. Mary, Sibethorpe, a toft, an acre and a half of land, 3*s.* 6*d.* of rent and a moiety of a toft in Sibethorpe, as those whereof his ancestor Robert was seised in the time of King Richard, kinsman of the present king, from whom the same descended successively to Ralph, his brother and heir, to William son and heir of the same Ralph, to William son and heir of the same William, and to plaintiff son and heir of the last named.

Defendant answers that plaintiff, by a writing made on Saturday before St. Peter's Chair, in the eighteenth year of the king, granted to his sons Reginald and John the younger the said toft, land and moiety, with other tenements in Sibethorpe, by the name of a messuage wherein John the chaplain of the said Simon dwelt, by a messuage of William son of John, and of a toft called 'Raufcroft,' which toft is called 'Cakerowe and Ely' and which moiety was sometime of William Sheyle and is called 'Sheyleplace,' as well as all his lands, rents and services in Sibethorpe not contained in a fine levied in the king's court between him and Reginald and one Thomas de Sibethorpe, clerk; that afterwards, on Christmas Day, plaintiff by another writing granted to the said Reginald, his heirs and assigns, all the lands and tenements aforesaid as well those contained in the fine as those not contained in the fine, with all goods therein, except one mare and one foal; that Reginald, with the king's licence, by divers writings released in frank almoin to the warden of the chapel, holding the church of Sibethorpe as appropriated, all right in the said moiety of a toft called 'Sheyleplace,' which lies to the north of the rectory of that church, and in the acre of land, by the name of two selions of land, whereof one selion lies on 'le Standard' and the other lies on 'Settecop furlong,' and in 12*d.* of rent, parcel of the said rent, which William son of Geoffrey le Clerc pays to the warden yearly by reason of an anniversary of the said Simon, his ancestors, heirs and relations, to be held in the church, and of alms for their souls, all his right in 2*s.* 6*d.* of the residue of the rent which Ralph de Sancto Paulo, lord of the manor of Sibethorpe, used to pay by reason of a dyke of the sluices of a water mill, now held by the warden on the north of the water of the Kersyk, in a place called 'Langebrig,' in Sibethorpe, on the soil of the ancestors of Simon, and by reason of trees growing on that dyke, which mill and weirs are now for a long time entirely destroyed and removed, and the dyke is filled in with earth, and in all other rent and services due to him or his heirs by reason of these or any other lands held by the warden; that afterwards the same Reginald, by a charter produced, granted in frank almoin to the warden the toft now claimed, by the name of a plot of land in Sibethorpe, called 'Cakerowe,' to the west of the manse of the rectory and adjoining the churchyard [with] three cottages built thereon near the way leading from the rectory to the church, as well as the half acre of land aforesaid by the name of a selion of land between land of Thomas son of Gilbert and land sometime of the said William Sheyle, for the enlargement of the rectory and churchyard, in exchange for three selions of land, specified to be granted to him by the warden with the assent of the said Thomas de Sibethorpe, the founder of the chapel, as well as for common of pasture which the warden had as rector of the church, and for a pardon of 40 marks wherein plaintiff was held for him and his heirs to Thomas for having a perpetual chantry of one chaplain in the church of Sibethorpe for the souls of him and his ancestors, heirs and relations, and of Robert de Scridelyngton, lately killed, according to an agreement made between Simon and Isabel late the wife of the same Robert, and Robert and John, sons of Robert and Isabel, and the other children of Robert and Isabel, and for having the houses of the said three cottages and their timber moved at the charges of the warden to some other place near 'le Grene' as he or Reginald should dispose, and making reasonable satisfaction to his servant, Simon de Claxton, and Agnes, wife of the latter, daughter of the said William Sheyle, for their estate for the life of Agnes in one of the cottages, to hold the premises on conditions specified; in proof whereof the quit-claim of Reginald is produced testifying to the above:—witnesses, Sir Geoffrey de Staunton, knight, William son of Geoffrey, Thomas Peronel, Sir Adam de Roldeston, chaplain, William Basset, yeoman of the said Reginald, Richard Hardewyn, sometime servant of the latter, John de Flyntham, then his servant, and others. Dated at Sibethorpe, on Friday, the morrow of Corpus Christi, 22 Edward III.

And afterwards John brother of the same Reginald, who had estate jointly with him in the plot of land called 'Cakerowe' and 'Ely,' by a writing reciting that the said plot of ancient time was always one and the same plot and always of the measurement of 3½ roods and contains no more at the present time, although a part has been assigned to cottagers dwelling in the said three cottages, at will, from year to year for their curtilage and the residue of the plot towards 'le Bek' between the 'Kirkecauce' and the manse of the rectory has been set apart for a plantation and for this cause and no other a dyke for a division has been made and on this account it is called by different names as 'Cakerowe,' and 'Ely,' confirmed the grants of his brother and released all his right in any of the lands held by the warden.

Defendant says also that, when all the tenements aforesaid were in his seisin, plaintiff released for him and his heirs all right in the tenements now claimed according to the effect of the charters and writings of the said Reginald and John as well as in all other lands and rents in Sibethorpe and in the towns of Hokesworth, Sireston and Aslacton which were ever in the possession of him or his said sons, or of any ancestors or relations and are now in the tenure of defendant, that the king because some of the lands are held in chief as of the honor of Peverel by charter granted licence for him and his successors to retain the same tenements in frank almoin and he puts himself on the king's grand assize to try whether he has not greater right than the plaintiff therein. Judgement for defendant.

(2) The like, Martinmas, 22 Edward III, ro. 521. Nottingham, to wit. William son of William del Wodehouses by Northwell, by Robert de Marnham, his attorney, demands against the same warden the manor of Sibethorpe, by writ of right because

Robert de Swylyngton, the chief lord, released to the king his court thereof. Plaintiff says that the manor came to him as heir to his brother, Reginald son of William del Wodehouses, who was seised thereof, because the latter took the habit of religion in the abbey of Rughford.

The warden, by William de Grantham, his attorney, answers that one John son of Simon de Kirketon in Holand was seised of the manor and on his death without heir the manor descended to one Margaret then married to one John son of Ralph Chaumpeneys of Quappelade, to one Alice, late the wife of William son of Hugh de Flete, and to one Joan, late the wife of Peter Hedle, who afterwards married one John son of Reginald de Aslacton, knight (militis), the elder (seniori), as his sisters and heirs; that afterwards in the king's court at Notyngham, on Monday after Martinmas in the third year of the king, before William de Herle and his fellow justices then in eyre in the county of Nottingham, a fine was levied between the same John son of Reginald the elder, plaintiff, and the said John son of Ralph Chaumpeneys and Margaret, his wife, deforciants, of her third part of the manor, whereby they surrendered the same to him and his heirs, that the same John son of Reginald acquired in fee another third part of the manor from the said Alice under the name of Alice daughter of Simon de Kirketon in Hoyland and sometime wife of William son of Hugh de Flete, in free widowhood. and he and his wife Joan held the other third part as her inheritance; that afterwards in the king's court at York, on the quinzaine of Hilary, in the eighth year, a fine was levied before William de Herle and his fellows, justices of the Bench, between the same John son of Reginald and Joan, his wife, plaintiffs, and one Hugh de Aslacton, chaplain, deforciant, of the third part pertaining to Joan, whereby they acknowledged the same to be the right of Hugh and he granted the same to them in tail, with remainder to William de Stanford in tail, and to the said Reginald son of William del Wodehouses in fee; that the said John son of Reginald by charter afterwards granted in fee to Thomas de Sibethorp, parson of the church of Bekyngham, founder of the said chapel, the said manor of Sibethorp entire, with all its appurtenances in Sibethorp, Shelton and Knyveton; that Joan died without heir of her body and the said William de Stanford likewise died without heir of his body; that afterwards a fine was levied in this court, on the octaves of Trinity, in the twentieth year, between the same Thomas, plaintiff, and John son of Reginald, deforciant, of the manor, whereby the latter acknowledged the same to be the right of Thomas and his heirs; that the manor being thus in his seisin Reginald son of William del Wodehouses released to Thomas all right of him and his heirs therein, and the said William, father of the plaintiff, whose heir he is, likewise released to him all right of him and his heirs and then the plaintiff here in Michaelmas Term, in the twentieth year, brought a writ of right against him touching his seisin, whereon judgement was given for Thomas; and that after this Thomas with the king's licence granted the manor to the warden and his successors in frank almoin towards the sustenance of a warden and eight chaplains to celebrate divine service daily in the chapel and in the church of St. Peter, Sibethorp, and the chapel of the blessed Anne in that church. and of three clerks to serve them, to find and maintain thirty-one in the church and chapels and the chancel of the church and a lamp to burn in the chancel at certain times, alms for the poorer parishioners of Sibethorp, to wit on every Monday, Wednesday and Friday, seven wheaten loaves each of the weight of 50*s*. to be distributed in perpetuity, and certain anniversaries, according to the ordinance for the appropriation of the said church; he says also that in Trinity Term of the twenty-first year the said Reginald son of William brought a writ of right against him in respect of the manor, whereon judgement was given in his favour, after which, in Hilary Term following, William del Wodehouses, the father, brought a like writ against him, whereon judgment was again given for him; and that afterwards a fine was levied here in the Bench, on the morrow of Martinmas last between defendant and the plaintiff, whereby the latter acknowledged the manor to be the right of defendant, and then the right of the warden in all the premises was confirmed by the king. Judgement for the warden.

(3) The like, Michaelmas, 22 Edward III, ro. 247. Nottingham, to wit. The abbot of Neubo demands against the warden aforesaid, 2*s*. of rent in Sibethorpe, by writ of right because John de Mustiers, chief lord, released to the king his court. The abbot says that his predecessor, William de Kermont sometime abbot, was seised of this rent in right of his church in the time of King Richard.

The warden answers that the demandant, under the name of brother Geoffrey, abbot of the monastery of Neubo, and the convent of that place quit-claimed the same to him and his successors. Judgement for the warden.

(4) The like, Martinmas, 22 Edward III, ro. 590. Nottingham, to wit. John de Mustiers of Tireswell, 'chivaler,' demands against the same warden 3*s*. of rent in Sibethorpe. He says that his ancestor John de Mustiers was seised thereof in the time of King Richard, and from him the same descended to Robert, his son and heir, to John, son and heir of the last named, to William, brother and heir of the last named, to Robert, brother and heir of the last named, and then to plaintiff, as son and heir of the same Robert.

Defendant answers that in Michaelmas Term last a fine was levied in this court between Thomas de Sibethorpe, parson of Bekyngham, plaintiff, founder of the chapel, and demandant, deforciant, of the same rent, whereby the latter acknowledged the same to be the right of Thomas and granted the same to him and his heirs, with the homages and services of Robert son of William del Grene, of Sibethorpe, Robert Adam, William Elys, Henry Elys, Robert de Scrydelyngton, parson of the church of Skeldynghop, Isabel late the wife of Robert de Scridelyngton, Robert son of the same Robert, John Alisaundre of Sibethorpe, Simon de Sibethorpe and John the younger his son, William son of Simon de Sibethorpe and Cecily, his wife, Constance daughter of Roger de Botelesford of Sibethorpe, Alice daughter of Constance de Botelesford, Sarah late the wife of Walter de Esshewellethorpe of Sibethorpe, Henry son of the same Walter, Hugh de Sancto Paulo, Geoffrey Bythelane of Sibethorpe, John, his son, William son of John, John de Congham, William de Middelton, Elias de Middelton and their heirs, in return for which Thomas gave him 10 marks; and Thomas then granted the same in the foundation of the chapel after which plaintiff released to defendant all his right therein. Judgement for the warden.

(5) The like, Michaelmas, 22 Edward III, ro. 247, Nottingham, to wit. Thomas son of Gilbert de Sibethorpe demands against the same warden 10 acres of land in Sibethorpe, whereof he says his ancestor, William son of Malger le White of Sibethorpe, was seised in the time of King Richard, from whom the right descended to Thomas, his son and heir, to Gilbert, son and heir of the last named, and then to the demandant as his son and heir. The warden answers that the said Thomas granted the tenements now in demand, by the name of 16 selions of land in Sibethorpe. to one Ralph le Greyve of Sibethorpe, bondman of Ralph de Kirketon, then lord of the manor of Sibethorpe, and his heirs, and the said lord afterwards took the same tenements into his hands as tenements acquired by his villein, after whose death one John the elder, son of Reginald de Aslacton, knight, then lord of the manor was seised thereof, and granted the same to Thomas aforesaid, the founder of the chapel, and it became part of the endowment of the chapel. Judgement for the defendant.

(6) The like, Michaelmas, 22 Edward III, ro. 247, Lincoln, to wit. William son of Walter Tebaud of Bekyngham, by his attorney, demands against Richard de Flanbergh, chaplain, warden of the chapel of St. Mary, Bekyngham, 12*s*. of rent in Bekyngham and Sutton which Gerard de Furnival granted to the same Walter in tail male, and which on his death should come to demandant. The warden answers that William granted the same to Thomas aforesaid, who founded the chapel of St. Mary, Bekyngham, and he endowed the chapel therewith at its foundation, for the support of the warden and to find and keep up seven wax-candles, five in the chapel and two in the chapel of St. Anne, mother of the Virgin Mary, built by him on the south side of the church of Bekyngham, to burn at times appointed in his ordinance, and that then one John son of Walter Tebaud of Bekyngham, whose brother and heir demandant is, by a writing released his right therein. Judgement for the warden.

(7) The like, ro. 871, Lincoln, to wit. John Spenser of Bekyngham demands against the said warden 10 acres of land and 6 acres of meadow, in Bekyngham and Sutton, by writ of right because the abbot of Nuttele, chief lord, released to the king his court thereof, of which he says that one Adam de Wylastre of Bekyngham, his father, was seised in the time of Henry III. The warden answers that plaintiff gave the same to Thomas aforesaid, and that he endowed the chapel with it. Judgement for the warden.

June 20. Westminster. Inspeximus and confirmation, for 20*l.* which the bishop will pay to the king, of letters patent of Ralph, bishop of Bath and Wells, dated at Banewelle, 1 June, 1349, made with the assent of his chapters of Bath and Wells, shewing that whereas, with the licence of all interested and by apostolic authority he has appropriated the parish church of Chyw to the bishop's table, he ordains that the vicar of that church shall find two chaplains, one attendant upon the cure of the parish and the other to celebrate masses daily in the chapel of Doundray, as has been wont to be done in the past, and to take part in the other divine offices in the church of Chyw, further that in the said church there shall be three chaplains, bound to celebrate daily masses as fixed by the vicar, one in honour of the Virgin Mary, another for the good estate of King Edward and for his soul when he is dead, and for the souls of his progenitors and successors and the faithful departed, and the third for the good estate of the bishop and for his soul when he is dead and for the souls of his predecessors and successors and of his relations and benefactors and the faithful departed, in which masses and the prayers special prayer shall be made for the peace of the church, the king and the realm, and these chaplains shall attend daily in the church of Chyw at the canonical hours with the vicar and chaplains aforesaid, and shall render assistance to the vicar at other times if required. And seeing that there are in his church of Welles boys called choristers (choriste) who serve in the divine offices, who have no rents assigned them for their food and clothing, so that many times they are in such want that they must needs be absent from the divine offices and seek elsewhere for means of livelihood, the bishop, with the assent of the chapters ordains that there shall be ten choristers to receive ten marks yearly from the vicar of the said church from fruits assigned to him below, to be paid by him in the church of Welles every quarter beginning from Michaelmas next. For the charges expended by him in prosecuting the annexing of the church as above, the bishop ordains that the dean and chapter of Welles and the prior and chapter of Bath shall be held to celebrate every year for ever on the morrow of the Purification solemn masses in their churches for his good estate, and his obit when he shall have passed away, as the devout and more solemn masses have been wont to be held there, on the day of his passing away, each chapter receiving for such celebration and holding 5 marks out of fruits assigned below to the church of Chyw and the vicar thereof. To enable the vicar to bear all the charges imposed on him by the foregoing, the bishop appropriates to him the lands, meadows, tenants and tenements, wood, underwoods and groves, as well as the manse of the rectory, which have been wont to be of the demesne of the church or the rectory aforesaid, the water-mill, great and small tithes and all fruits, rents and issues with all other profits received by the rectors of Chyw in the past, and endows the vicarage with these, saving to the bishop and his successors the tithes and issues of animals or of other things arising in their demesne and their jurisdiction of the church, and a pension of 20 marks to his churches of Bath and Wells of ancient time paid out of the church of Chyw. Each vicar at his institution shall swear on the Holy Evangelists to observe these ordinances. In witness whereof the bishop has caused these letters tripartite, one part for the treasury of the church of Wells, the second for that of the church of Bath and the third for the vicar of the church of Chyw, to be strengthened with his seal.

By p.s.

And the 20*l.* have been paid in the hanaper. Somerset.

Nov. 21. Westminster. Inspeximus of the tenour of the record and process had before William de Shareshull and his fellows, justices of oyer and terminer in the county of Southampton touching trespasses against William, bishop of Winchester, as follows;—

The commission of oyer and terminer to the said William and others, dated 20 January [rectius June], 23 Edward III. (See p. 384.)

Pursuant to the said commission the sheriff was charged to have at Winchester on Tuesday after St. Peter's Chains, the mayor and commonalty of Winchester and others named to answer the bishop and to be there in person to show what he knew for the king or for himself or his office.

Pleas at Winchester before William de Shareshull, John de Sancto Paulo, William de Fifhide and William de Overton, justices, the day and year aforesaid, Southampton. William, bishop of Winchester, puts in his place John Elys of Thame or Roger de Haywode against the mayor and commonalty of the city of Winchester, John Otewy, Ralph atte Churche and Walter Chamberlayn of a plea of trespass, Southampton, to wit.

The defendants were attached to answer touching a plea wherefore they, endeavouring to hold markets and fairs and make other injurious occupations in the land which he holds in right of his cathedral church by pretext of a grant in perpetuity by King Henry to William, sometime bishop of Winchester, prevent him from having the dead buried in the graveyard adjoining the monastery of St. Peter.

The bishop, by the said John Elys says that, whereas his said predecessor held all the land comprised in the grant aforesaid, distinct and separated by walls, dykes and other enclosures from the district and commune of the city, by these bounds, to wit from a gate called 'la Munstreyate' towards the High Street, as an ancient wall called 'Constable's Wall' extends to 'la Giehalle' by the church of St. Laurence, and thence to the church of St. Maurice and thence by the ancient dyke called 'Templedych' to the stream of 'la Posterne,' on Friday the vigil of St. Anthony, in the king's twenty-second year, the said mayor and others armed with swords, bows and arrows prevented the burial of the dead and assaulted his men and servants, to wit John Austyn and John Crouchere, some of the monks of the abbey, to wit Ralph de Staunton and William de Thuddene, and the bearers of the dead, to wit Ralph Sekersteyn and William Claver, whereby he lost the service of his men and servants for two months from the said Friday. Then he produces the said charter, dated at

Burnham, the Ides of September, 1114 [Monasticon, II, p. 414] and letters patent dated 10 June, 10 Edward II, reciting and confirming the same. [Not on the Patent Roll.]

And the mayor, to wit John de Nuttele, and the commonalty and the others come in person and defend the force and injury, and as to the supposed impediment, the mayor and commonalty say that there is a great plot of land adjacent to the graveyard, to wit from a cross placed in the graveyard as far as the church of St. Maurice, and from the same cross as far as the wall by the house late of Walter de Helle, towards the city, which is their soil as parcel of the city and hath been so for all time, and they have ever held fairs and markets there as on their own soil; and because the bishop on the day in question would have dug in the same soil and had burial of the dead and divers other mainours done there they have recently hindered him, as lawful was for them to do.

The said John Otewy, Ralph and Walter say that they are men of the commonalty of the city aforesaid and as such came with the mayor to aid him, and as to the impediment that was lawful.

The bishop says that the plot is within the limits of the land contained in the charter.

Therefore the sheriff is charged to cause twelve jurors to come at Winchester, on the coming Wednesday before the feast of St. Laurence, to find &c.

And upon this the mayor and commonalty and the others put in their place John de Tille, touching the plea aforesaid.

At which day, come the bishop by Roger de Haywode, his attorney, and the others by their attorney aforesaid, and jurors likewise, who having been elected by consent of the parties and sworn find that within the limits and bounds named by the bishop they have several houses and there are buildings made of ancient time adjoined to an ancient wall between 'le Munstre Yate' and 'la Giehalle,' and between 'la Giehalle' and the church of St. Maurice, and as to the plots whereon the buildings are whether these are of the soil of the bishop or of the mayor and commonalty they are wholly ignorant, but that the whole plot void and not built on without the said houses towards the monastery, to wit from the corner within the gate of 'Munstre Yate' as far as the house late of William le Ismongere, and from that house as far as the fabric of 'la Wollefilde' and thence towards the High Street of the city as far as the gate called 'Thomes Yate' and thence in a straight line as far as the dyke called 'Templedych,' by the church of St. Maurice, and so along the dyke to the river of 'la Posterne,' is the bishop's soil and parcel of the graveyard, granted by the charter of King Henry shown to the jurors as evidence, and not the soil of the mayor and commonalty or parcel of the city, that the bishop and his predecessors in right of their church have been in continual seisin thereof, from the time of the gift, and that the plot where the impediment was made is parcel of the plot not built on and is the bishop's soil.

On the question of damages, they assess these at 40*l.* Therefore it is adjudged that the bishop recover such damages, and that the said mayor, to wit, John de Nuttele, John Otewy, Ralph and Walter be taken.

And it is to be known that this plea was pleaded and jury taken in the presence of Henry Sturmy, sheriff of Southampton, who came by virtue of the king's writ and before the issue of the plea and taking of the jury was examined as to what he knew or could say for the king or for himself or his office, but had nothing to say.

The king approving of the record and process, at the instance of the bishop, has seen fit to have them exemplified by these presents; and further, for the honour of God, the glory of the said cathedral church, which is of his patronage, his sincere devotion to the Apostles Peter and Paul, in whose honour the church is consecrated, and his special affection for William, the present bishop, confirms the judgement. Furthermore, he has granted licence for the bishop to enclose the plot according to the metes, bounds and limits found by the inquisition with a stone wall or otherwise and hold the same to him and his successors for ever. Dec. 6. Westminster. By judgement of the treasurer and barons of the exchequer the king lately recovered against the abbot of Thornton two pensions, which the alien abbot of Aumale used to receive, to wit 20 marks out of the church of Barowe and 10 marks out of the church of Thornton, churches held as appropriated by the first named abbot, with arrears thereof from 11 July in the eleventh year, as having pertained to him from that year by reason of the war with France and having been concealed from him, but because by lawful information made before him and the council he has learned that the abbot of Thornton, by composition between him and the abbot of Aumale, is bound to pay every year in the church of St. Martin, Hedon, 20*l.* to the latter or his proctor in England, that from the time of that composition the said sum has been always paid yearly to the priors of Burstall as proctors of the abbot of Aumale, as well in the time of the king's progenitors as in his time, without any impeachment, that no apport out of the 20*l.* yearly has at any time been made by the abbot of Thornton without the realm, that the king has been satisfied of the same in the chamber in the farm of the priory of Burstall from the time of the taking of that priory into his hands, and that it appears likewise by the same composition that the then abbot and convent of Aumale made a release to the abbot and convent of Thornton granting that they would not henceforth require of them any cess beyond the 20*l.* yearly, the king having regard to the composition and to this that by ancient memoranda of the exchequer it is found that the said prior was wont to be called the proctor of the abbot of Aumale and it is not found that the abbot of Thornton was ever inhibited on behalf of the king from making the payment to him or had from him any mandate of being attendant elsewhere in respect of the payment, has granted that all acquittances under the seal of the prior of Burstall from the said 11 July to now for the 20*l.* yearly, which he can shew, shall be allowed him in full against the king, notwithstanding the judgement aforesaid or any grant made by him of the arrears. Crown Roll of the county of Kent, before John de Berewyk and his fellows, justices in eyre at Canterbury, Easter, 21 Edward I, ... touching bridges, they say that the bridge of Hokyngbery is broken down on the side of the hundred of Eyhorn, which part the men of that hundred ought to repair. And jurors of the hundred come and say that the same part of the bridge was broken down at another time and the king sent there John de Cobham to enquire who ought to repair the same and before him it was found and adjudged that, because the men of the hundred of Eyhorn repair and keep up one pile of Rochester bridge at their charges and the men of the dens aforesaid have contributed nothing to keeping up the pile, the men of those dens ought to repair the part of the bridge broken down. Therefore the sheriff is commanded to summon the dens. Afterwards come the men of the dens and other tenants of the hundred of Eyhorn and the men of the dens acknowledge that they with the men of the hundred ought to repair half the bridge and not they by themselves, and of this they put themselves on the country, to wit, a jury of the hundreds of Badekelegh, Merdenn and Kalehull and other tenants of the hundred, which jurors say on oath that all tenants of the hundred, with the men of the dens aforesaid, ought to repair the moiety of the bridge, in common, the tenants of the prior of Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem in England in the said dens excepted, they say likewise that all tenants of the hundred, except as above, ought to repair the bridge of Hedicrone. May 26. Windsor. Inspeximus and confirmation of an ordinance of Simon, archbishop of Canterbury, dated at Maghfeld, 20 May, 1350, in the presence of Masters John de Carleton, canon of Wells, Richard Vagham, archdeacon of Surrey, John de Lambely, doctors of laws, Richard Wodelond, Michael Mareschal, clerks, by apostolic authority notaries public, John de Stok and others, for composing long standing questions and discords between the priors and chapter of his cathedral church of Canterbury and the priors and convent of the monastery of St. Martin, Dover, over points set out in full in the entry, as follows;—

(1) In every voidance of the archbishopric of Canterbury, the prior of the monastery of St. Martin, Dover, in his own name and the name of his convent, by reason of the parish churches of Hugham, Appuldre and Colred, with the chapel of Popeshale, in the diocese of Canterbury, which they hold appropriated, shall render canonical obedience to the prior of Christ Church, Canterbury, and shew reverence to him as to his superior, when required.

(2) The prior and convent of St. Martin's, Dover, shall not in future prevent the vicars, chaplains and ministers of their said appropriated churches from rendering canonical obedience, when the see is void, to the prior of Christ Church, or the prior and chapter from exercising ecclesiastical jurisdiction over them and the people subject to the churches, at such times, or the vicars, chaplains or other ministers of the churches from making processions in Christ Church, Canterbury, every year, on the third day in Whitsun Week, and each vicar from offering there on that day 1*d.* and receiving from the said church oil and chrism, but shall encourage them to do so, and shall not presume themselves any longer to distribute oil and chrism to them.

(3) Inasmuch as the monastery of St. Martin, Dover, and the prior and convent, from the time of the foundation of the same, as well as the prebendal church of St. Martin, Dover, and the churches and chapels in the town or borough of Dover, which are annexed to the prebendal church or dependent from it, which the prior and convent by royal grant had before the foundation of the monastery and at all time since, have been free from all ecclesiastical jurisdiction of the prior and chapter of Christ Church, Canterbury, in times of voidance of the see of Canterbury, unless in so far as relates to the render of obedience, as above, he declares and adjudges that they are so exempt and imposes on the prior and chapter of the said church silence for ever in regard to this and absolves the prior and convent from impeachment by the prior and chapter for ever, quashing all ordinances, statutes, pronouncements, compositions and decrees, heretofore made, in any wise contrary to this ordinance.

(4) For the sake of peace and quiet, the prior and chapter will pay henceforth to the prior and convent of the monastery, in compensation for their charges on account of the premises, a rent of 100*s.* out of the manor of Siberteswold; and because between the parties there is doubt about the churches of Dale, Bokelond, Guston and St. Margaret, Clyve, whether these are prebendal and like the church of St. Martin, Dover, and the archbishop is not yet fully informed touching the right of either party, he reserves judgement on this point.
